The Passing of Satan, Death 454 Hell BY COL. A. J. ROGERS.

(Written while a sojourner at Lee Camp Soldiers' Home, Richmond, Va., because of wounds), Author of "THE PROMISE OF PEACE" and other works. cause of wounds), Author of "THE PROMISE OF PEACE" and other works.

The unique title of this NEW STORY succincily prefaces this remarkable book, while the author proves his theory step by step, and demonstrates that, in the fulness of the times of the Christian Regeneration, man comes forth anew and free of the bondage of Satan and consequent death, hell and the grave, an immortal spirito-substantial man, perfect, even as our Father which is in Heaven is perfect; Satan and all that is infinical to God, thence-forward, forever and eternally non-est. For, in the fulness of man's regeneration there verily comes a new and eternal state of things—the Son of Man is manifest, God all in all, the temporal earth and the heavens thereof, is then past, carrying with them all that was born of or emanated from Adamic disloyalty, and whatsoever is inimical to the Christ, for in the new and disloyalty, and whatsoever is inimical to the Christ, for in the new and eternal earth and heavens—then remanifest—there is never any more place found for Satan and his kingdom, which could only be in and of the passing temporal earth—the curse of the ground—made for fallen man's sake, until the day of man's repurification and the restitution of all things of God. But see the BOOK. It is indeed unique. Secure a copy at once. Only 1,000 copies ordered at present. Price ONE DOLLAR per copy.

State, stirring up the members, with the carnest desire for an increase in membership, and offering inducements that will encourage everybne to make a special effort to assist in the Virginia Division at the next State Convention, which is to be held in Danville, Va., the latter part of April, in getting to National Director Saunders' 1,500 mark. There is no doubt but this will be realized.

It is understood, too, that the chairman of the Press Committee is to be kept busy also, and it is enjoined upon the members everywhere to write him what is going on so that he in turn can communicate to the rest the good news from one another. He also has been busy sending out letters concerning his department, and by this time the members will have read the same and preparing to send in what they have gathered.

Every T. P. A. receives the montaly "News Letter," so it is hardly necessary to say, to them that it is full of news this month, for if they are as interested as the writer of this article they will have spent a pleasant half-hour perusing its contents, especially the news pertaining to the Virginia T. P. A., which was sent in by several of her members. Last year Virginia Division was ahead of Georgia, but things have changed and Georgia has gone ahead.

The regular monthly meeting of Post A will be held to-night at 8 o'clock at headquarters, corner of Third and Main Breets.

A BIG BATTLE IN HOUSE

Chair is Reversed and Amendments to Tax Bill Offered by Mr. Lassiter are Adopted -- Senate Passes Insurance Measure to Engrossment.

The Legislature did a great day's work yesterday. The House passed the general revenue bill and took a recess until tomorrow morning in order to allow the argument in the Campbell case to go on o-day. The Senate took important action on Iwo interesting bills.

The House, after the greatest cattle of the session, adopted the amendments offered by Mr. Lassiter, of Petersburg, increasing the tax on real property twenty to twenty-five cents, the addition Fourth, subject to deed of trust for $318, Fourth, subject to deed of trust for $318, $500.

The battle cents to twenty-five cents. The battle was a pretty one, and was led by Messrs. Caton, of Alexandria, and Lassiter and Davis, of Petersburg, and Sipe, of Reckingham. The report of the committee war ably defended by Messrs, Cardwell. Boaz and others, and the vote on the first amendment was, ayes 38, noss 26.
The Chair ruled that the amendment was lost; as it required fifty-one affirmative votes. In this Speaker Ryan was over-ruled by the House after a lively and spirited parliamentary wrangle, in which a good deal of feeling was displayed at Andrew F. Mosby to Victoria V. Mosby, 24.49 acres on Old Meadow Bridge road and Second Awenue, lot 4 in square 19, lots 7, 11, 18, and 19 in square 14; lot 19 in square 13, lots 5 and 6 in square 5, lot 23 in square 33, lot 4 in square 9, lot 20 in square 2, and lots 1 and 21 in square 21.

When these amendments had been adopted the bill was passed by a vote of fifty-nine to nothing. The body passed a bill to authorize cities and towns to issue bonds to pay off outstanding obligations, and a number of local measures were offered and referred.

ing on Tuesday in this city. The body was in session but a short while, hearing the business reports for the past year and electing the directors for the next tweive months.

The former directors were re-elected, being Messrs, Decatur Axtell, M. E. Ingalls, G. H. Ingalls, E. F. Osborn, N. R. Johnson, H. T. Wickham, Warner Moore, C. E. Welford, A. Trevvett.

The directors have not announced when that will meet for the election of officers. The Sale bill to create a Bureau of In-surance and to provide for the election of a Superintendent of Insurance came up in surance and to provide for the election of a Superintendent of Insurance came up in the Senate at 12:39 o'clock. It required fifteen minutes for Clerk Button to read the lengthy document. The clerk had the Lieutenant-Governor and himself as his audience. There was conversation going on throughout the Senate chamber. Many visitors were there and the most of them were ladies. Not a single Senator could in the nature of things, follow closely the reading of this unusually long document. The new Constitution requires all bills to be read and the Senate's clerk did his duty manfully. Mr. Sale offered amendments to perfect the bill and they were all agreed to without objection. Then, without a dispending vote, the act was ordered to its engrossment. It will come up upon its passage to-day. This is one of the most far-reaching soils offered at this session and the Norfolk senator did not even have to make a speech before the Senate to secure the favorable and unanimous action taken. The opponents of the bill made their fight before the committee and were whipped out. They realized it would be useless to continue the fight action taken. The opponents of the bill made their fight before the committee and were whipped out. They realized it would be useless to continue the fight on the foor of the Senate.

The bill provides for a Superintendent of Insurance to be elected for a term of six years. He is to be chosen by the General Assembly as other State officers are elected. His salary will be $2,500 per year to be paid by the State, the Commonwealth to be reimbursed through, and by the assessments upon the insurance companies. Both fire and life insurance companies are affected. The bill also provides for $2,500 for the expenses of the office to be paid in like manner.

The bill is designed to protect the citizens against weak and fraudulent companies.

The Superintendent is given broad pow The Superintendent is given broad powers to examine into the solvency and financial stability of all companies doing business in this State. He will make his reports to the Corporation Commission. Heretofore, the Auditor of Public Acounts has had charge of insurance matters, on the part of the State. In the nature of things, he has been unable to make that examination as to the solvency of companies such as is contemplated by this act.

THE ROUTINE WORK.

The Senate proceedings were opened without prayer. There was a larger attendance of members than on any day since last Thurgday.

Several petitions in favor of the passage of the Mann bill were presented.

The Lyle child labor b... came up as the special order at 12:15 o'clock. It had been engrosed and the question was upon the Pasage of the measure. The bill was passed without a dissenting vote. Twenty-five senators voted for it.

Mr. Mcliwaine stated that he was detained at home on Tuesday by sickness. Had he been present he would have voted for the Cabell bill, while Senator Keezell with whom he was paired, would have voted against that measure.

Mr. Cogbill's act to remove the prohibition upon persons of over sixty years of age from serving upon grand juries was passed without a dissenting vote.

The bill offered by Mr. Mann to authorize the Supreme Court of Appeals to direct its clerk to destroy certain manuscript records was passed without objection.

The speech of Mr. Boaz was a very strong one, and was an able and earnest defence of the action of the Finance Committee.

Mr. Sipe spoke with much force and earnestness in favor of the amendments offored by Mr. Lassiter. The able valley lawyer came around and took the main alsie and with books before him and in hand he appealed to the House to make the taxes upon all property fair and equal.

Mr. Cardwell made a very able speech in favor of the report of the committee, and he was listened to earnestly by his colleagues.

MR. WHITEHEAD SPEAKS.

Mr. Whitchead followed for the amendments, and his speech was one of characteristic force and strength. The Jamessown Exposition appropriation entered to some extent into the discussion, and the speaker asserted that if the institution was a private one he and his people would not desire that the State should contribute to its success.

Mr. Gravely, of Henry, spoke for the amendments, and he was often interrupted with questions by Mr. Boaz, Mr. Graveley was followed by Mr. Allen, of Botetourt, who spoke forcefully for the amendments. He contended that the adoption of the amendment was necessary for the payment of pensions for 1904. Mr. Lassiter spoke at some length and will great force and eloquence for his amendments, and speaker Ryan (Mr. Walter Jordan in the Chair) spoke briefly and stated that there could be no question as to the payment of pensions for the year 1904 should the report of the committee be adopted. He urged the House to stand by the Finance Committee.

The first vote was taken first on the amendment to increase the tax on roal estate from 20 to 25 cents on the $100 of the assessed value thereof, and it was rejected: Ayes, 38; noes, 28, the chair ruling that it required 51 affirmative votes:

The Chair stuck to his ruling and still

The Chair stuck to his ruling, and still he was urged to recede. Messrs Cardwell, Boaz and others supported the ruling of the Chair in strong speeches.

DAVIS IN THIE LEAD.

Mr. Davis led the fight against the ruling of the Chair and was ably supported. Mr. Cardwell, of Hanover, led the opposite force and he displayed great tact and ability in his efforts to sustain the Chair. The contention of the opposite side was that if the ruling of the Chair was sustained, every section of the bill would have to be voted upon again, and would require 51 votes in order to prevail.

That of Mr. Cardwell and his supporters was that the 51 votes required forthe final passage of the bill reached to every section of the bill, and need not be specifically shown on each section.

Mr. Davis appealed from the decision of the Chair and the Chair was roversed by a vote of 25 to 35.

CHAIR REVERSED.

On the question of sustaining the Chair the vote was as follows:

Presbyterlan Organ Says Methodist Minister Went Out of His Way to Attack the Charter of Washington and Lee.

For the first time since the agitation began the Central Presbyterian, of this city, takes official notice of the Rev. J. H. Leight, of Lexington, who in a recent article published in the Christian Advo-onts, attacked Washingon and Lee University and the administration of State institutions of learning. In its current issue the Central, for the Presbyterians it represents, makes indignant reply. It says:

"The Methodist minister in Lexington,
Va., has drawn upon himself a hot fire from a number of batteries by his unforfrom a number of batteries by his unfortunate letter in the Christian Advocate, of Richmond. In urging Methodist people to support and patronize their denominational college he went out of his way to attack the character of Washington and Lee University, and the administration of the Virginia. State institutions. In both cases we think he was mistaken. As to the State institutions, we do not, for a moment, believe that the Episcopal Church, or its leaders in Virginia, have done anything to control them, or to direct their inluence over young men toward the Episcopal Church. The religious character of the communities about, all of the State institutions has been very much strengthened in late years, and Christian work among the students, wholly evangelical and undenominational, has received a cordini support. All denominations are welcomed and are given full opportunity for the care of their own young men. The result has been largely a strong Christian influence, and the impression of a catholic and fraternal spirit, which alchurches should rejoice in. It is due to the religious and Christian character of the four the result of the the directors who represent them should anxiously guard against the introduction into the faculties of irreligious and irrevent men.

CATHOLIC SPIRIT.

"We can scarcely imagine a more catholic spirit than that which has long prevailed at Washington and Lee. By the urgent entreaty of the board, then almost entrely Presbyterian, and the appeals of such representative Presbyterian ministers as Dr. William Brown and Dr. Moses D. Hoga and others, General Robert E. Lee was persuaded to accept the presidency, and lived and labored freely and happily in the college life. The same spirit prevailed in the presidency of General G. W. C. Lee and of Mr. William L. Wilson, and is dominant now in all the working of the university board and the university faculty. It is to the credit of these gentlemen, in the board and in the faculty, that they have administered so large and important a rust in so catholic and generous a spirit. With great pride we can point to their administration as an example of what Presbyterians, enlightened and fraternal, can do with an institution intrusted to them for the public good. If Methodist students have been influenced, as Mr. Light protests, by anything Presbyterian in the university, we would be glad to think that it is by that perfectly open and generous spirit which honored General Lee and loved President Wilson, and is working in the same spirit to-day.

WOULD BE BETRAYAL OF TRUST.

"It must not be forgotten that not only has Washington and Lee an origin and a history of which Presbyterians are proud, but that, in the providence of God, it is set in the midst of a noble people, unto whose sons it is its calling to give education. Beyond the Blue Ridge, and far out to the Ohio, is a sturdy body of Scotch-Irish people, honored by the words of Washington, growing in numbers and wealth, of the best American material for manhood; and they are largely of Presbyterian stock. In a great sense the institution belongs to its natural constituency and for the advantage of that constituency its endowments were given, and given with confidence in the Christian and catholic spirit of those who administered the trust. Nether from the pledges of past years, from the confidence and sympathy of its natural constituency must the University of the Valley ever depart. If the administration were now to retire and turn over to the men of other denominations the whole of this trust and the noble work of the university, it would be simply a betrayal of
